senor Manuel Gonzales, commissionergeneral from Costa Rico, had much to complain of at the meeting. Large quantities of fruit are being constantly shipped to the Fair. Very much of it reaches his hands in a worthless condition because of delay in delivery to the Agricultural building.
He said he believed the Exposition management was doing its utmost, but he was not sure whether the fault lay with the railroad companies, the cartage companies or the Exposition. The goods are consigned every week and sometimes twice a week, he says, from Port Lemon, and the journey should occupy six days, but frequently the goods are fourteen days in reaching him. One consignment was lost nine days on the railroad before it reached St. Louis, Nabedy knew where it was. Mr. Tiegers of the Exposition staff made a special search for it, and finally it was found, but in the meantime it had spoiled.
The shipments consist of fourteen to sixteen cases every week, containing carefulty packed pineapples weighing four to five pounds, oranges, plantains, mangoes, pears and guanas. The last shipment received by Mr. Gonzales was totally destroyed by the delay.

Another shipment left Costa Rico on June

The roof of Festival Hall ought to be Democratic delegates might not have forpeople not to miss the show. Some of those Democratic delegates might not have forgotten to see the Fair before going home if they had seen the reminder while passing by.

These are just two examples of neglected opportunities. Every building is an ideal biliboard, but somebody seems to think that pasts won't stick well to staff. And this illumination at night is all going to waste. It is pretty, but why not twist all those lights into letters that spell something. They'd look just as pretty and bring in revenue to boot.

"As Secretary Shaw perceived, every building is full of things that need advertising. A circus man ought to get hold of the show. He'd paste all over every building bills telling about the stuff inside with some big pictures of the only great this and the only complete that ever shown in America.

The packers say they expect to continue to operate, but refuse to tell their plans for filling the places of the men who have struck. An official of Armour & Co. said that his company would continue to do busines and supply its trade.

It was also announced that no notices of an increase in the price of meat had been given, and that, so far as the company was concerned, there was no present intention to increase the price, which has been ranging steadily at from 5½ to 8½ cents per pound ir wholesale quantities.

It was stated, however, that there was no way in which the action of those packers not affected by the strike could be forecasted, and it was intimated that, if the strike was prolonged and as serious as it promised to be, these outside packers were expected to demand more money for their meats.

Both sides have had ample time to prepare for a strike. The packers say they are prepared, and will fill their orders; the employes say they are ready for a long seige, with ample funds in the treasury, sufficient sympathy from the trades and the public, and a strong position.

Monday the packers were notified by the leaders of the union men that the strike would be ordered Tuesday, and were advised not to purchase more cattle than they could kill and handle before noon. The advice was acted upon, and the market for beeves, hogs and sheep in East St. Louis Tuesday was practically dead.

For Torturing, Disfiguring Humours, From Pimples to Scrofula, From Infanoy to Age.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of half and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as ! pimples and ringworm; the awful auf fering of infants, and anxiety of wornout parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum - all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to suc fully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the sta economy have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Complete treatment for every humour, consisting of Cuticura Soap to cleanse the skin, Cuticura Ointment to heal the skin, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills to cool and cleanse the blood may now be had for one dollar. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning and scaly humours, eczemas, rashes and irritations, from infancy to age, when all

He shouted and an answering shout came back from Preller. It was a time for action rather than too much caution, and the sturdy tug brought up alongside the drifting houseboat with a thud. It took no time for the deck hands to lash the houseboat securely to the tug, and the tug set stubbornly toward the shore and landed the derellet safe and sound.

And it will be a long time probably before little Dewey Preller will be able to think of a tugboat without associating it with divine providence.

the Russian eastern army was found, hidden in the hills. In a plain tent the correspondent saw Gen. Keller, living like a simple solder, his staff being quartered in a native hut nearby. The general looked cheerful and was bronzed by exposure. He talked enthusiastically of the engagement at Hol Yan.

Around the general's tent were many officers of the guards, the pride of St. Petersburg. To see them as weather beaten as the Cossack officers one could scarcely believe them to be the dashing guardsmen of the Russian capital. They have become hardened fighters, for hardly a day passes without collisions between the advance posts of the eastern army and the Japanese. The whole army is anxious to fight Gen. Kuroki, whose headquarters are at Yandianpudze, and wohse men are enterenched on the other side of the river. The burning question is who will be the first to pross the dread valley of the Liank river.

RUSSIAN EXPERT FORECASTS

EVACUATION OF NEW-CHWANG ST. PETERSBURG, July 12-Col. Nevit-sky of the general staff, in an interview sky of the general staff, in an interview today, says: "The result of the loss of Kai-Chou will probably be the evacuation of New-Chwang.

"Gen. Kuropatkin's position is more difficult than that which confronted Lord Roberts in South Africa. It is as if Lord Roberts received his supplies by rail via Constantipole, Cairo and Central Africa. It will be a long time before Gen. Kuropatkin will have enough supplies and men to assume the offensive. In the meanwhile, he will have to fight rearguard actions, perhaps giving up important positions, like New-Chwang, which are of vastiy more consequence than Kai-Chou."

COL. PHELPS WINS POPULARITY PRIZE

Recrudescence of the "Pass Graft' Brings Him Many Friends, Old and New.

How to Get to Jefferson City Is Problem With State Convention Delegates.

"Do I intend to pay my way to Jef-ferson City next week! Not on your life. It's no use throwing money away so long as 'Bill' is doing business at In this language a St. Louis politician in formed his friends how easy the "pass graft" is when convention times approach, and at the same time emphasized the re mark of a former Missouri governor that "Bill Phelps is a handy man around con-his daily mail for the past week, one would imagine that Col. Phelps is a candidate for office or at least for some honor of more than ordinary moment. This illusion is dispelled, however, upon a cursory glance at the voluminous and complimentary letters he receives.

Up to the present time the colonel is said to have received 5600 requests for free transportation to Jefferson City.

The Democratic leaders of some counties in the interior of the state have asked for as many as 200 tickets or passes apiece.

Here is a sample letter, indicating the manner in which they formulate their request:

seamer in which they formulate their reuest:

Hon. William H. Phelps, Missouri Pacific

"I suppose you will renember me, if not, I will proceed to explain who I am. I have just been elegied chairman of our county committee and you know that means I can he of great assistance to you. Of course, I do not wish to abuse your kindness or impose on your good nature, because I feel that I am making a request which you shall be only too happy to grant. I am not a member of the present administration, sithough I supported for governor. I don't want you to think that I at any time sympathized with the fight the old machine, led by Dockery. Stone et al., made upon you. On the contrary, I have always contended and insisted among my friends that you are a high-minded and homorable gentleman. Let me assure you of my warmest friendship and, believe me, I will ald you whenever possible. Yours to command.

P. S.—I can make use of one for myself and

P. S.—I can make use of one for myself and wife, while at least 25 of the "boys" will be wife me. Kindly make my pass good for stop-wer at It is astonishing to the legislative agent how many opponents desire to effect a reconciliation at this particular time.

Among those who seek favors are men who have fought and denounced him again and again.

"Will you attend the state convention?" Col. Phelps was asked.

"I don't know," he said. "If I go up to Jefferson City I might get knocked down and trampled upon," which was another way of indicating his fear of the pass seekers who might surround him at the state capitol.

TAKING ROBERTS' DEPOSITION Plaintiffs Preparing for Contest Over the Blair Insurance.

Direct examination of James T. Roberts, the Blair informant, will be resumed Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock before United States Commissioner Gray who is taking Roberts' deposition for use in suits brought by the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York against Blair before his death and now pending against his estate, of which John F.

Lee is executor. Roberts' testimony will probably last three sessions, the cross-examination for the defense following the direct testimony. The case was reopened Monday.

The action brought by the insurance company is to cancel two life insurance policies aggregating $250,000. The company sets up fraud and misrepresentation by Blair in procuring the insurance and alleges that he insured his life for large sums with the definite intention of committing suicide.

After Blair's death the defense interposed a motion to dismiss on the grounds that the court had no jurisdiction after Blair was dead. Judge Pollock of Kansas overruled the motion and the hearing begun Monday was the preliminary move in the trial of the original suit on its merits. Blair before his death and now pend-Roberts' testimony at Monday's hearing recited the story of how he discovered Blair's methods of securing money from Dick Bros. & Co., bankers, of New York, on fraudulent titles ad deeds of trust, and how his repeated forgeries from 1896 to 1901 netted him hundreds of thousands of dollars. The hearing was not public, only the attorneys and others connected with the case being admitted.

The greatest local interest centers around the word that Frankie Neil and Abe Attell have been given notice to break training, as there is no chance that they will be permitted to meet in the Windy City.

Promoter Haughton of the West End Club announces that there is just a chance that the Neil-Attell bout may be put on at the West End Club. Mr. Haughton was in communication with Ike Bloom, the manager of Abe Attell, last night, but nothing definite was accomplished. If the two little fellows are matched here it will probably be for ten rounds.

Subjects of general educational interest will be discussed during the conference, which is expected to last three days.

Nearly every diocese in the country is represented at the conference. Several nuns from each of the teaching religious orders in the city are also attending.

The conference, as its title indicates, is the first of the kind ever held in the United States. Its purpose is to devise a uniform system of education in Catholic institutions, no such system at present being in force.

Mr. Taylor needed no more. He ordered out his team of black horses and drove to the engine-house. Ever since then steam has been escaping without any chug-chug.

Mrs. Starbuck "Rang Up" Neighbor,

"Who did it?" asked her husband. She either did not hear or did not understand.

"Why didn't they answer? Twice I tried to call by telephone," were her last words.

In the presence of the bodies of his wife and 4-months-old daughter, found and dragged from a nearby cistern, the half-crazed husband and father made a vow of vengeande.

"I will take no rest until the ones guilty of this awful crime have been punished," he said, lifting his hands, and then kissing the faces of his dead wife and child.

The post-mortem today developed that Mrs. Starbuck's death was due to hemorrhage of the lungs, caused by her repeated screams for help when she stood to her armpits in the water in the abandoned cistern where she was thrown by her assailant. The baby was drowned. It is supposed that, as she was dragged from the window Mrs. Starbuck caught her baby in her arms. The tragedy occurred Saturday night.

pecial to the Post-Dispatch. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ELKINS, W. Va., July 12.—Henry Cassaway Davis, Democratic candidate for vice-president, got up this morning at 6:30 o'clock after a restful sleep of eight hours and ate a breakfast that made his secre tary, who is only 29, feel like an invalid. Then, putting on his long boots and taking his broad-brimmed farm hat, he set out for a brisk walk across thelawns of "Graceland," as his palatial home back at Elkins is called. He made his way to the fields, where already the men were opening haycocks in expectation of a good hay day.

Mr. Davis is an energetic farmer as well as a man of affairs, and the 15 men on the broad estate know that his quick eye sees everything.

The first one of the farm hands to see him coming was the old darkey. Abram Turner, bent double with the load of years. Turner is the gardener, and his one idol in this world is "Massa Davis." Turner is a hot Republican, but, when the news of the omination of Mr. Davis reached him Sunday, he threw down his rake and ex-

"Now am the day of jubilee, an' dis old darky is goin' foh to throw his first Demodarky is goin fon to throw his acceptance ticket."

And the old negro picked a great armful of Maryland roses and spread them across the Plaza of Graceland, through which Mr. Davis must pass on entering his house, Negro Servant Leads in the Shouting.

When Turner saw him going into the field this morning he set up, a shout, and the men, white and black, gathered around the athletic figure of the wonderful oid man and shook his hand.

"It affected me more." said Mr. Davis to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "than all the telegrams of congratulation I have received. I suppose that you will smile when I tell you, but the greatest pleasure that I have felt since they woke me in my car at Grafton at 3 o'clock and told me that I had been nominated for vice-president was when my sweet. I year-old motherless granddaughter, Katherine Brown, who lives with me, came running across the lawn to meet me, with her arms outstretched, to give me her usual hug.

"I knew you would be nominated, she said, and this was the more surprising to me because I had not dreamed of being chosen. She is a sweet little girl, with her mother, sor whindly face of the man crept the first light shadow during the hour he had been talking with the reporter.

"If I had known this was coming," he said, "I might have been ready with some plans for the campaign. But I did not know it, so I have no plans as yet. I have been in telegraphic communication with Mr. Hill and Mr. Sheehan and shall go to New York in a week or so for a conference.

New York in a week or so for a conference.

"I have been receiving so many telegrams of congratulation today that I have not had time to read them all. Judge Parker telegraphed me in a very spiential way. Other telegrams came from Bar Harbor, Poland Springs, Me., where ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson of Maryland is; from Seattle, Wash. from England, from France and one from Germany, where my daughter, Mrs. Elkins, is at Bad-Nauheim.

"Three hundred came Sunday and as many more Monday and today. I have planned to go to Eedford Springs, Pa., for a few weeks this summer and shall still go. Beyond that I cannot say."

"You may say though, that I shall do my share in the campaign. I don't feel a year over 50. I have not a cent of life insurance. Never tried to get any. I have not year over 50. I have not a cent of life insurance. Never tried to get any. I have no doctor and no use for one."

And here he laughed in that magnetic way that has won him so many friends.

All today the village people, from merchants and capitalists to the laborers, who live in the cottage along the river, have been climbing the steep hill to Gracelund to congratulate him and he has reselved them in truly Democrate fashion, modestly, but with open-heartedness. He refused last night to discuss the money question saying that, until Mr. Parker does so, it would not be appropriate in himself. But he is known everywhere in West Virginta.

Report to Washington Will Contain Review of Management, With Certain Recommendations.

PASS QUESTION IS TREATED

Payment of $500,000 Will Be Made Friday, Secretary Stevens Positively Declares.

The national commission will forward to President Roosevelt today a statement reltive to the condition of the Fair. Senator Carter, president of the comm sion, says part of the report will not be made public until the President has read it. After the report reaches Washington it will become an official record and pub-licity will probably follow.

Great interest has been manifested in the contents of the report. It is the first review of the Fair that has been sent to the President since the opening of the Exposition.

The methods of the Fair management

The methods of the Fair management are reviewed and some recommendations will be made, but what these are is a greater mystery than the scuttling of the Santos-Dumont airship.

The pass proposition has received attention from the national commission and the President will learn just how many persons are paying to see the Fair and how many are not.

A statement made by Secretary Stevens Monday leads to the belief that the national commission's report on the finances of the Fair will not be discouraging.

Mr. Stevens said to the Post-Dispetch:
"The third installment on the government loan will be due Friday. A payment of $600,000 will have to be made, and the Exposition company will be ready to pay it. That is one thing I am sure of."

Association.

Clinical demonstrations of esteopathic methods in the treatment of diabetes and asthma were the features of Tuesday's sessions of the American Osteopathic Association convention in the Missouri building at the Fair. Dr. Lucius P. Meaker demonstrated the treatment of diabetes and the discussion was led by Dr. C. W. Procrer. Dr. George M. Laughlin was demonstrator in the asthma clinic and Dr. Sanford T. Lyne led the discussion.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday in the auditorium of the Missouri building. Wednesday night, in Festival Hall, President Francis will welcome the members of the association and a number of other addresses will be heard. The members of the association about 1000 of whom are in the city, are spending the afternoons visiting the Fair. Osteopathy was discovered and first practiced by Dr. A. T. Still at Kirksville, Mo., in 1892. The School of Osteopathy at Kirksville has spaduated over 3500 students. The American Osteopathic Association was organized in 1896 and has 1500 members, all of whom are expected in St. Louis before the close of the present convention, which ends Thursday. The first session opened Monday with about 300 members in attendance.

East.

Special to the Fost-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Brig.-Gen.

Fred Funston, one of the junior brigadiers, is the latest army officer to reap the benefit of presidential friendship. He has been ordered transferred from the Department of Columbia to command the Department of the East, which position has been vacant ever since the new army divisions were established.

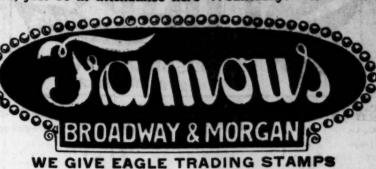

It is a part of and subordinate to the Atlantic division, now under command of Maj. Gen. Corbin. It is the most important and generally regarded as the most desirable of all of the department commands. The order goes into effect Oct. I. Brig.-Gen. Constant Williams, now at San Antonio, Tex., who has just been given the single star, will succeed Gen. Funston in command of the Department Think back for a year and notice how the sick spells grow on you instead of getting less.

You are running into nervous prostration or some fixed disease absolutely certain, and when it suddenly takes full possession you will find nothing, absolutely nothing, in drugs that will heal you. Nature demands penalty for the daily hurt to the nerve centers by coffee, and you must pay the full price.

hing, insomnia, restless, miserable mights, nerves all gone. Craving for coffee was intense but it put me lower and lower in health. Something must be done, so I tried leaving off the coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. The first trial wife and I were both disgusted for we were careless in brewing it but we went carefully into the subject of premaring Postum and found we had only allowed it to brew about five minutes, and that won't make good Postum. So next time it was boiled full fifteen minutes after boiling began, then served with good cream and it was toothsome and delicious. That marked the beginning of my return to health. Now I sleep well, the old twitching has disappeared, and in short I am well again. My good wife has also been much benefited by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. George Beyer Had a Thrilling Experience in the Storm at Belleville.

Blown off the roof of the house, bounced against the side of the building like a rubber sphere in a handball court and finally dropped on a pile of lumber with a jaw broken in three places, three broken ribs and internal injuries, is the experience which George Beyer, aged about 35, still survives in St. Elizabeth's hospital in Belleville, but which physicians say may prove fatal. Beyer is the victim of a heavy windstorm which struck Belleville about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

At that time he was shingling a roof at Seventh and Abend streets and was hurrying to finish his work before the rain.

A gust of wind struck him sooner than he expected. He started down the roof, but when he reached the edge the gale was so strong he was blown back and forth so that he lost his hold. The wind blew him against the side of the house, let him bounce back, blew him in again, and as his body bounded away, hurled it against the building a thrift time. He was dropped to a pile of loose lumber, a distance of 30 feet in all, where Charles Bauer, who winessed his fall from across the street, went to his assistance and helped him to shelter. Afterwards he was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

There may have been cowardies in the St. Louis convention at it wasn't canned, like the Chicago affair.

The voice of a politician in a coliseum is as the voice Sir Bedivere. Every national convention is a pantomime.

SHALL THE MAJORITY RULE?

That the machine bosses of Missouri will resort to every de vice and trick within the resources of expert and experienced political managers to control the Democratic state convention, is certainty. The objects of the bosses will be to retain control of the party organization and thus practically to defeat the Democratic reform movement; to retain as much power as posafble at Jefferson City by nominating machine men for all offices under that of governor; to hamper Mr. Folk as much as possible in his campaign and in his administration.

If the plans of the machine bosses shall be successful, Mr. Folk's campaign will be managed by his enemies and they will be in a position to carry out their own purposes and to make any dea! with the Republicans. If the Folk ticket shall be elected by their grace they will be in position to exercise large efforts to reform the government.

The delegates instructed to vote for Mr. Folk represent the will of the Democratic voters who believe in Mr. Folk and his cause. They constitute a large majority of the convention. If velt and his administration. they are honest men who sincerely represent the Democratic voters, the plans of the machine bosses will be defeated and the reform cause will triumph in the organization, in the ticket and velopment, can now unite without a shadow of distrust upon in the platform. It is only through a betrayal by the Folk delegates of the trust the voters have placed in their hands that the machine car control the convention.

What will be the verdict of the voters who rallied to the support of Mr. Folk when the anti-persons who want to brighten their minds and also get some social forms who want to proper of the convention is referred to them for ratification at the polls?

Shall the voters' will prevail? Shall the majority rule?

explain their purport. He wanted to be sure that the delegates should hear every word.

Gov. Vardaman stated the truth when he warned the galleries and told the delegates that they should think what they were doing and weigh carefully the great questions they were there to consider.

A nominating convention is a deliberative assembly and should deliberate. A hall big enough to seat the delegates and alternates, with room for the newspaper men representing the public right to know what is going on, is the most suitable. Additional seats, if any are allowed, should be reserved for committeemen and leaders who have some claim to the privilege, based upon public service. It is hoped that the experience of the past week will convince party leaders of the absolute necessity of a radical reform in convention arrangements.

The Chicago Exposition was great, but when it is confessed that not an automobile was shown there, the advantage of holding a World's Fair 11 years later is made very clear.

THE AFTER VIEW.

Bourke Cockran, who came with Tammany to the Democratic convention to do its protesting, but who suffered the longest spell of silence in his record, has climbed into the Parker band wagon. He tells the public how he ran away from St. Louis to keep from making a disheartening speech and how, having been called back by Mr. Murphy, he returned in a rush to predict victory, but arrived too late. Mr. Cockran makes amends by paying Judge Parker this handsome compliment with reference to his message:

It revealed him to the people of this country almost in an instant as a great leader, the greatest of this generation; an honest man-the most impressive in displaying that virtue that I have ever known either through experience or reading; a courageous man-of such incomparable courage that he was willing to throw away not merely the hope of a nomination, but an actual nomination for the presidency, rather than stoop to an evasion or equivocation on a matter of principle.

This represents the verdict of the people upon Judge Parker's act, including those who opposed him and those who are in confusion of mind and anger over his fancied blow at the convention. When the heat of the conflict is over the clear view will give the right impression of the fearless leader and his wise and courageous message.

All factions of the Democracy will see that Judge Parker filled a yawning and menacing vacancy in the platform and substituted honesty for hypocrisy by writing into it what the convention really thought but was afraid to say.

The settlement of the money question gives additional forces control over his administration and to hamper greatly his to the remainder of the platform, which is strong on the living issues which differentiate democracy from plutocracy, Jeffersonism from Rooseveltism. It strengthens the appeal to the country against the imperialism, the militarism, the favoritism, the extravagance and the usurpation of Mr. Roose

It is quite possible, after all, that Judge Parker's chances will depend more upo President Roosevelt than upon his party or himself. Another letter like that in which Mr. Roosevelt proposed that the United States shall become the buildozer of neighboring republics and a collector of international bad debts would help immensely. Another such shift in offices as that which took Knox and Cortelyou out of places in which they might be of service to the country against monopolies, and made one a corporation agent in the Senate and the other a campaign fund fat frier of the corporations he was appointed to supervise, would be worth more than a hundred campaign speeches for Parker.

With a deficiency in the revenues, with prosperity dwindling, with railroads and mills reducing their payrolls by the thousand, with labor becoming restive and business men aprehensive, with a Republican record of unprecedented extravagance and suppressed investigations, and a president whose ruling passion is to glorify force and whose impulsive recklessness has occasioned widespread distrust and alarm, Judge Parker ought to win.

The World believes that his chances are now good, and that they will improve with

I was gazing into the future, longing for chances—opportunities, advantages, and I never stopped to see them lying thick about me in the present. Then, in the midst of my dissatisfaction I read Carlyle a little, groping blindly, for I understood only fragments. However, some of these fragments impressed me profoundly—this one, for instance, but I cannot quote correctly:

And then I stopped and looked about in the ugly, unfailshed workshop of my life, and I thought. "This is the place of all places for me just now because it is the place of all places for me just now because it is the present for me just now. This worst of all worse places must be the best of all best places for gaining the self-control I covet."

Try an "Ahumada."

Some men discover stars; others discover salades. A salade is worth a great deal nore to us than a star. To Allan Forman we are indebted for the discovery of Ahu-mada, the Hindoo Mystic, and that genius' salade, which is already known by his salade, which is already another by his name in two uptown restaurants. Here is the formula: Asparagus tips about two inches long, cucumbers sliced thin, green grape fruit cut in dice, pineapple in strips, peas, apple cut in chunks so as to avoid the inner skin, lettuce leaves to form a founda-tion, oranges in slices, small German mions (imported) picked-about the size of peas. Cover this with a French dressing made fairly hot with red pepper, and serve very cold. At a recent reception where the "Ahumada" was served a guest remarked scoffingly: "All this needs is a handful of coffee grounds and a tin can to be a regulation garbage pall." Then he sent back for two more helpings.-New York Press.

"I have known a hatpin," said the Club Woman, "to repel a proposal. Very few men, nowadays, wear padded shoulders. But did you see that a negro preacher couldn't get a shave at Oyster Bay? You know that is where President Roosevelt lives.

"Well, this colored man is hightly educated, so he wanted a shave, and he went into a barber shop. The barber wouldn't shave him, and he appealed to the citizens who were waiting their turns. But they didn't pay any attention to him because they were reading their papers. I said—sarcastically, you know—that they must have been very much interested not to hear the negro, but Mr. Brown said right away that they were. He said the papers told about the enthusiastic reception to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, and it was the first the citizens had heard of it.

"Anyway, the barber got angry and rushed at the negro preacher with a club. That seems shocking to me, but Mr. Brown says a barber has often used an ax on him. I never would have had a peaceful moment if I had known it.

"Well, then, the negro ran out and went to a justice of the peace to get a warrant. Mr. Brown says that convinced him the colored man wasn't sincere."

"Why?" asked the Society Girl.

"Because, if he really had wanted a shave, he could easily have borrowed one of President Roosevelt's razors."

Ir shops and factories she is today pursuing the very same occupations that belonge mothers back to the day "when Adar delved and Eve span." When the inventive genius of the sons of Adam took the wom an's work out of her home and made it cheaper and cleaner, and more sanitary for the daughters of Eve to spin together in stead separately and for general instead of private consumption, it was inevitable that they should profit by the change. And the women who do are no "new women," but old as mother Eve.

The really new woman is the "readymade woman" who sits at home, her occu pation, like Othello's, gone, who does no keep house because it is easier to board years, which has buy her clothes ready-made; who dawdles and fritters away her time from one mat inee day to another, and is a living example of the human parasite, or, to use a time-honored simile, the clinging vine, ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 11.—Because his bride-to-be had already procured the marriage license, W. W. Goldsmith, a well-known business man of Asheville, refused to marry a Worchester (Mass.) resident, when he went to Worcester a short time ago to wed.

to marry a Worchester (Mass.) resident, when he went to Worcester a short time ago to wed.

Goldsmith has returned to Asheville. He says he will not allow any woman to buy his marriage license. The bride-to-be was Mrs. Emma N. Seagrave of 24 Oxford street, Worcester. When Goldsmith arrived Mrs. Seagrave, he asserts in addition to having a marriage license, had her wedding garments ready and her trunk packed in anticipation of a bridal trip.

Mrs. Seagrave says that she became acquainted with Goldsmith a few months ago through a friend in New York, that they had corresponded regularly since that time, and that their engagement and arrangements for their marriage were made by letter. Mrs. Seagrave also states that she secured the marriage license thinking that it might please her filance, so that there might be no need of delay on this account. She says, in addition, that she sold her house in anticipation of leaving Worcester. Goldsmith, in rebuttal as it were, says that he intended to first inquire into Mrs. Seagrave's affairs, to ascertain if her financial condition was such as she had represented it to be.

"In our correspondence I told her plainty," he states. "that I was not a rich ye," he states. "that I was not a rich of the beneath the driver wheels."

chai condition was such as she had represented it to be.

"In our correspondence I told her plain-ly," he states, "that I was not a rich man. She wrote me that she had ample means. I asked her to state the amount of her wealth and she did so. It was upon this statement that our engagement was entered into and our marriage—at some future time—arranged for.

"Under the terms of Mrs. Seagrave's late husband's will she will not come into possession of her money until Sept. 9. If everything at that time is satisfactory and Mrs. Seagrave's money and property is free from entanglement, as was the understanding when we became engaged, I expect to marry her."

Trisco's Line to Chicago.

The announcement has been made that, beginning with Aug. I, the Frisco will operate trains between St. Louis and Chicago. This will be only a night service at the beginning, although a day service will be operated to Danville, Ill. The schedule is not yet arganged. Between Pana and East St. Louis the Big Four tracks will be used, as the cut-off is not yet quite ready for use. The new line to Chicago is 390 miles long and will give another double track route between St. Louis and Chicago, arrangements for this having been made with the Big Four.

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend handreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. APPROVED WILLIAMS' PLANK;

Final Recapitulation of Events Lead-Connection With Judge's Tele-

pecial to the Post Dispatch. KINGSTON, N. Y., July 12.—Judge Parker deprecates any adverse comment on Mr. Hill's course at St. Louis. He has no feel-ing other than sympathetic appreciation of Mr. Hill's friendly effort and does not doubt but that Mr. Hill believed he was doing what was for the best interest of Judge Parker and the Democratic party.

Judge Parker's judgment and method differ from those of Mr. Hill. The simple fact is that Judge Parker followed the guidance of his own judgment, as he al-ways does, in taking his courageous stand. The chronology of events leading up to the sending of the now famous telegram shows how his decision was reached.

The work of drafting a platform at St. mittee of the committee on resolutions.
This subcommittee, of which Hill was a ember, decided in the absence of Mr. to insert the Williams financial plank which declared that the great increase in the world's supply of gold had settled the money question. This was reported by Hill and Sheehan to Judge Parker and was declared by him to be acceptable. At the meeting of the full committee Thursday evening, Mr. Bryan began his at-tack on the money plank and continued speaking and arguing far into the night. Tired out from its long session, the committee sought to escape from Mr. Bryan's ndless talk without applying the gag rule it was decided to refer the platform to another special subcommittee, composed of Williams, Hill and Bryan.

The Parker leaders expected Hill to stand with Williams and outvote Bryan; but in-stead he trimmed and hedged into a comntirely any mention of the money ques

At the time the telegram was received Judge Parker was in bed. The reporter sat on Judge Parker's porch until the judge appeared after his swim in the morning and was first informed by the reporters of his nomination. It was because Mrs. Dall figured in "the Baumhoff case" that she was discharged from a government position she had never held. Her husband was a clerk in the postoffice. She had occasion to call on Postmaster Baumhoff in reference to her husband's salary, and the bearing of the postmaster toward her on that occasion was made the subject of charges against him. Later a message came from Washington notifying her, along with others who were in the government service and who had made charges, that they had been discharged, The young woman, who is now Mrs. Thornton, brought suit for divorce twice. The first time she was only 16 years old, and, not being of age, a "next friend" had to be appointed to act for her, to meet the prought about. They disagreed again, however, and a divorce was granted on a second application.

The storm yesterday afternoon prevented the wind-up game of the New York series, and Muggsy and his band swaggered out of town last night to play Joe Kelley's Reds in Cincinnati today.

The Giants put something of a crimp in the rush of the Cardinals for first division, but Nichols' team should be able to win as many games from the Superbas as did the many games from the Superbas as did the Glants from them. With a little luck the locals should get much better than an even break in the four games.

McGraw is proud of his team, and with good reason. The Glants are a standing monument to aggressive team work. With but few players of any great reputation, they are leading the League by a big margin. The success of the Glants is unquestionable with the ship of the ship the tionably due in a large measure to the abil-ity and aggressiveness of their leader.

MR. TRACY REFUSED TO FIGHT

Great American Jockey Recently Un-

Whereupon Members of the B. M. G.

Were Disappointed.

The scheduled li-round bout between Jack Tracy and Jules Klein, which was to have been held at the Business Men's Gymnasium Monday evening, failed to come off.

Both principals were present, but Tracy refused to fight before the measer crowd. Instructor Douglass of the club boxed a four-round exhibition with Klein.

Joe Yanger and Dummy Schenck boxed a four-round draw.

"A FIT," EXPLAINS

SAMMY SHOESTRINGS, "Is the first thing to be obtained in a man's Oxford. If it doesn't fit it won't be cool-'twill chafe-and the wear, being unequally distributed over the sole, will soon bring the cobbler's skill into service."

Burt was the first to class, ready-to-wear shoes. He made $6.00 and $7.00 shoes for years.

And now that he is making Burt's "Korrect Shape" $3.50 and $4.00 Oxfords he still clings to his $6.00 and $7.00 flawless fit. Baker-Bayles Shoe Co., 6th near Washington.
